Tallyho.* Pat. 828. Mildly contrasting shades of pink to cardinal-red according to the season. $1.75 each.

ROSES FOR SPRING, 1951

TIME-TESTED VARIETIES SUITED TO THIS CLIMATE

Red Varieties

Christopher Stone. Rich scarlet that holds from bud stage until petals fall. Intense Damask fragrance.

Etoile de Hollande. First introduced in 1925. Still the standard by which other red Roses are judged. Especially fine fragrance.

Red Radiance. Light crimson-red or deep pink. Round buds and flowers. Very vigorous grower.

Pink Varieties

Editor McFarland. One of the best clear rose-pink Hybrid Teas. Upright, vigorous plant and good foliage.

Picture. Warm pink with undertones of salmon. The bud is truly a picture. One of the best pinks.

Radiance. Soft pink, rounded flowers with lighter shades on reverse. Dependable everywhere.

The Doctor. An outstanding new Rose. Long-pointed buds, expanding to enormous blooms of exquisite silvery pink. Intense fragrance.

© Peace. Pat. 591. Here is the Rose that has been winning prizes all across the country, as well as abroad, for the past few seasons. It is the first Rose to be awarded the National Gold Medal of the American Rose Society and is rated highest by Rose Society members. Plant Peace, and you will agree that it is Queen of the Garden. Its enormous, beautiful blooms pass through a constantly changing range of pastel tones, each day seemingly more lovely than the last. And what is of interest to home gardeners is the fact that the plant is just as good as the bloom—sturdy, disease resistant, and bearing very leathery, dark green foliage on thick canes. $2.00 each.

Our roses are trimmed ready for planting and individually labeled. Planting should be done only when the soil is in loose friable condition.

One of the most important things to do is bank the soil six to eight inches high, in a cone shape, around each plant until the growth starts. Then gradually work this soil down to the level of the bed.

Our plants are guaranteed, and those failing to grow will be replaced providing they are returned to us with the original label attached and providing they are planted promptly on arrival and given good care.
